

Josip Loncaric

Dr. Josip Loncaric is the HPC Technology Futures Lead at Los Alamos National Laboratory, a role which covers both HPC platforms and facilities which support them. He has over four decades of experience in computing, and a background in applied mathematics, numerical methods, computational fluid dynamics, flow control, control theory, robotics, and supercomputing.

